SEPTEMBER WHEAT GAINS 1-8c TO

1-4c, WHILE JULY LOSES 1-2c. Corn Closes a Shade Higher and Oats at an Advance of 1-Sc-All Murkets Opened Wenk, but Closed Firm. Chicago, July 1.-The grain and provision markets opened to-day with a weak tone at a shade under yesterday's closing prices, but improved as the session progressed and wound up firm for grain and strong for provisions. The near approach of the holidays made trading very dull. Foreign crop damage reports helped wheat. Wheat closed 14614c higher for September. and be lower for July. Corn closed a shade higher; outs be higher and provisions by 12% higher. Except that this was the first delivery day for July contracts, wheat opened un-der a similar combination of bearish influences to those of the previous day. The July deliveries made previous to the opening of the session were quite insignificant, ing of the session were quite insignificant, a careful estimate making the quantity of wheat only 30,000 bushels. That for a while prevented the price from yielding to the other and quite bearish influences. The latter, however, could not be for long ignored and began to exercise their legitimate effect about ten minutes after the opening. July, which closed yesterday at 65% opened at 85% 65% c, and baff an hour afterwards it could be bought for 65%. September started a shade lower at 64% c soid at 65% c and then down to 65% c. Liverpool opened % d lower and reported stocks of wheat $12,000 bushels larger than June 1. The latter item of statistical information was rather a surprise, considering the weekly statements of the great declency of imports compared with the estimated requirements. Chicago received ten carloads of wheat, Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 250 carloads, compared with 468 cars the corresponding day of the year before. The Atlantic port cisarances were liberal at equal to 330,000 inshels in wheat and flour together. The reater part of that was shipped from New York. The closing cables made the day's decline in futures at Liverpool 4d. Business in the wheat pit was not heavy to begin with, and soon simmered down to a midsummer drowsiness among the moderate number who braved the steamy heat of the put for the off chance of picking up 1-16c on 5,600 or 16,600 bushels. The tone of the market improved, however, notwithstanding the smallness of the trade. The a careful estimate making the quantity of wheat only 30,000 bushels. That for a while 1-lic on 5,000 or 16,000 bushels. The ton-of the market improved, however, notwith-standing the smallness of the trade. The improvement became more marked when New York reported the Danubian crop to be 40 per cent under the average. Good seshoard acceptances of last night's cabled offers were also reported. The light trad-ing was almost entirely confined to Sep-tember, the weakness of July being due-principally to neglect. It improved, how-ever, late in the session and at the close ever, late in the session and at the close was bringing 6%. Sentember, after selling down to 64% gradually recovered and closed at 64% bid.

Corn was irregular, opening steady, becoming quite weak and becoming decidedly strong later. The weakness was the result of favorable weather, and the ensuing strength was caused by covering by shorts. Traiding was light and consisted mostly of changing from July to September, Local receipts were 539 cars. September opened unchanged at 25%2.5%c, decided to 25%6.5%c and railied to 25%9.5%c.

clined to 254-625%c and railied to 254-625c, closing at 25%c.
Liquidation in July onts caused a weak feeling to prevail in the market for awhile, but, through sympathy with wheat and corn, a reaction occurred later. Business was fairly heavy, though largely in the way of exchanging. The weakness in the cash article was again a feature. Local receipts were 24 cars. September opened be lower at 15%c, sold up to 17%c and closed at that price.

Provisions, as usual, were affected by the conditions of the hog market and opened weak. The market advanced on a good demand, and then went back again under liberal selling. Late in the session general buying set in which continued to the close, good advances being made all around. At good advances being male all around. At the close, Eeptember pork was 124c higher at $7.80; September lard 5c higher at $4.3 and September ribs about 10c higher at Estimated receipts Friday: Wheat, 11

The four Atlantic ports cleared for export yesterday 250.009 bushels of wheat, Ir. 500 packages of flour, 418.046 bushels of corn and 256.202 bushels of oats. Total wheat and flour clearances amount to 330.000 bushels

Quietude still pervades the local money market. There was but little new paper offering yesterday, either by home borrowers or from out of town but rates are held steady and a brightening up of the demand at any day. Counter currency is in good demand from the country and the exchange market here in consequence has weakened. The movement of currency to the country is not large as yet, but the demand is an increasing one and is expected to be strong by the middle of the month, owing to the expected free movement of the new wheat crop. Stocks and Bonds. New York, July 1.—To-day's market was somewhat erratic, the earlier hours of the day inclining to reaction, but a stronger tone developed after noon which carried prices all through the list above last night's closing level. There was no news regarding the general situation to account for the early decline and it must be attributed to a general apprehension among the profesclosing level. There was no news regarding the general situation to account for the early decline and it must be attributed to a general apprehension among the professional traders that the advance in prices has outstripped conditions. The latest strength did not develop until after a period of feverish uncertainty, and a hesitating and somewhat timorous effort on the part of the bears to take control of the market. There was a decided failing off in activity and in the outside interest in the market all day. Nor was there any general heavy selling to realize apparent. The decline gave every appearance of being purely manbulative in character, the bulls seeming to assent to it as promising benefit to the tone of the market. It was not of a character to invite aggressive short sales and, in fact, the sales that were made for short account were covered before the end of the session and were largely responsible for the raily. A feature of the market all day was the case with which prices moved up and down on small transactions. The late rise was accomplished without any very heavy buying, reflecting the disposition on the part, of heavy operators to nurse the reaction for the purpose of recuperating the market and preventing its too rapid advance. London already reflected an increased confidence in the stability of values here and bought quite freely during the day. General news as to the outlook for business continued favorable. The transfer of $200.000 in currency from the subtreasury to New Orleans is considered an indication of increasing business activity in that section.

An order from Europe for $500.000 in gold went begging in Wall street, there being no adequate profit in the transaction at the ruling rate of exchange. The government's zood showing for the fixeal year with a deficit of less than $12.000.000 against an estimate a year ago of $64.000.000, is looked upon as a favorable factor.

The bond market displayed a good tone on moderate transactions, which were largely restricted to the leading mortag

Dry Goods.

New York, July 1.—With the approach of the Independence day holiday the dry goods market assumed a duller tone than has been the case hitherto. The buying in the market is of a casual character, and mail orders have been light in nearly all grades. The month just closed is pronounced to have been a fair one, both in first hand and jobbing markets. Sales were really heavier than was expected, and the totals for the month, it is believed, in most quarters, will compare favorably with the business of June, 1896. In staple cottons the market is still unsatisfactory. Hienched goods are still soid slowly at steady prices. Brown cottons are in slow request, with export goods only fairly active. Wide sheetings show no change. Coarse colored cottons are steady without change. Denims are fairly active, and business in stripes, checks, cheviots, tickings, etc., is still quiet, though prices are furly well sustained. Prices are without icature, the demand for staples being somewhat limited. Print cloth quoted at 2½c. DRESSED BEEF AND EXPORT STEERS Coffee and Sugar.

SOME NAPOLEON LETTERS.

Three Hundred That Were Suppressed in 1869 to Be Published This Week.

Paris, July 1.-M. Leon Lechtre, curator of the French archives, will issue during c present week the first volume of 300 letters which were suppressed by the editors of Napoleon's correspondence, issued in 1869, as not calculated to increase the glory of the great French emperor. The volume includes some heated family letters and some vigorously worded episties to Fouche and Dubois, the ministers of police and war, respectively. A letter to Marshal Soult in 1804 shows that Napoleon did not hesitate in adopting any means of obtaining confessions. He orders Soult to arrest a fisherman suspected of communicating with the British, adding; "If he refuses to speak, you must squeeze his thumbs in a musket lock."

Napoleon's list of persons to be arrested was endlers and his abuse of Madame de Stael was unceasing.

Learning in 1807, through Marshal Victor, that Prince Augustus of Prussia was intriguing against him in Berlin, Napoleon wrote: "I am not astonished, because he has a dull mind and has spent his time courting Madame de Stael at Coppot, Switzerland, and, of course could only pick up of the great French emperor. The volume courting Madame de Stael at Coppot, Switzerland, and, of course could only pick up had habits with her. Send word to him that at the first mischlevous remark he utters you will lock him up in his castle and send Madame de Stael to console him.

There are no men so cringing as these princes of Prussia.

Writing to Talleyrand in 1808 that princes of the former religning family of Spain were about to arrive at Valencay, Napoleon sald:
"You may send for Madame Talleyrand and four or five persons. If the Prince of Asturias should form an attachment for a pretty person, it will be no drawback, as it would supply another means of watching him."

would supply another means of watching him."

Another letter from Napoleon to Talleyrand runs: "Your mission is honorable enough, to receive three illustrious personages and amuse them, and is quite in keeping with your character."

When Napoleon received the news, June 11, 1869, that the pope had excommunicated him, he wrote: "I spare the pope no longer. He is a raving madman and must be locked in."

Some letters to his brother, Prince Jerome, are interesting. When Jerome was outwitted by the Austrian general, Klenmayer, he still boasted of his strategic plans in an inflated order of the day. This caused Napoleon to write as follows:

"I have seen your order of the day, which makes you the laughing stock of Austria. Germany and France. Haven't you a friend about you to tell you plain truths? You, a king, and a brother of the emperor; these are ridiculous titles. In time of war you must be a soldier and nothing but a soldier. You must have no minister, no diplomatic corps, no state. You must eamp with the vanguard, be day and night on horseback, and march in the van to pick up news, or remain in one's harem. norsecate, and march in the van to pick up news, or remain in one's harem. "You make war like a satrap (petty au-tocat). Is it from me, good God, that you learned that, from I, who, with an army of 200,000 men, keep at the head of my skir-

20,000 men, keep at the head of my skir-mishers?

"The people are provoked with you. Kienmayer, with 12,000 men, has laughed at you and your ridiculous pretensions, and has slipped away from you and fallen upon Junot. You have a lot of pretensions, some little mind and a few good qualities, but these are marred by your failuity and your extreme presumption. You have no knowledge of the fitness of things. Leave off being ridiculous, send your diplomatic corps back to Cassela, have no baggage and wage war like a young soldier wishing to earn glory and reputation. Try to deserve the rank you have reached and the esteem of France and Europe, who are watching you, and, by God, do right and speak in a seemly manner if you can."

JAPAN MAKES COMPLAINT.

The Attention of Secretary Sherman Called to an Alleged Outrage on Japs in California.

Washington, July 1.-The secretary of state has written a letter to the governor of California asking him to cause an investigation of the circumstances under which two Japanese subjects were driven away from the new town of Johannisburg, in that state. This action is taken because in that state. This action is taken because the Japanese minister here has made complaint that the men, who were employed as cooks and came in conflict with a local inhor movement, by being prevented from following their business were deprived of privileges guaranteed by treaty between the United States and Japan. If the facts show that this complaint is well founded, the next step probably will be a demand by the Japanese government for indemnity and the protection of the men in their rights.

and the protection of the men in their rights.

While this particular case is not regarded here as threatening to give rise to difficulty in its settlement, the frequency with which the state department in late years has been obliged to intervene with state authorities to secure the protection of foreign subjects, in most cases unsuccessfully, too, gives rise to the expectation that the president, in the near future, will be obliged to appeal to congress for some legislation to prevent such occurrences, which might easily lead to international breaches and even war.

INDIAN TROUBLE EXAGGERATED.

The Alleged Bannock Outbreak Very Much Less Serious Than Was Reported.

Washington, July 1.-The Banneck Indian trouble in Idaho appears to have been greatly exaggerated by the settlers. Dispatches received to-day indicate that the patches received to-day indicate that the number of Indians off the reservation is much less than was stated, that there was little basis for general alarm through that country, and that the object of the Indians who did leave the reservation was solely to secure food luxury in the form of camass root, a blue flowered bulb, whose sweet taste is much coveted by the Indians. Lieutenant Irwin, the agent at the Fort Hall reservation, wired to-day that the situation was not as serious as reported. Hall reservation, wired to-day that the situation was not as serious as reported.

Agent Harper, of the Umatilia reservation, at Pendleton, Ore., whose Indian charges were said to have joined the Fort Hall Indians, also telegraphed to-day that his Indians are all at home, so far as he knows, with four exceptions, and are preparing to celebrate the Fourth of July. He discredits the idea of his Indians being at Camass prairie, and apparently has no fear of any difficulty.
